     (c) DoD Directive 5230.24 of 18 March 1987

1. Purpose. To provide information and guidance concerning distribution procedures for communications, Navy Warfare Library (NWL), and joint doctrine publications.

2. Cancellation. OPNAVINST 5605.19J.

3. Background. Distribution of communications, tactical, and doctrinal publications is accomplished by a combination of push and pull methods to Navy users. Commander, Navy Warfare Development Command (COMNAVWARDEVCOM) establishes procedures for distributing the NWL and joint doctrine publications via reference (a). Commander, Fleet Cyber Command (FLTCYBERCOM) establishes procedures for the distribution of communications publications via reference (b).

4. Definitions. The following definitions apply to the terminology used in this instruction.

   a. Allied Publication (AP). A publication produced by an alliance or coalition to provide standard doctrine, tactics, and procedures during multinational operations. Most APs used by the U.S. Navy are sponsored by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

   b. Communications Publication. An Allied communications publication (ACP), Joint Army Navy Air Force publication (JANAP), or naval telecommunications publication (NTP).
c. Joint Doctrine Publication. A publication of joint interest prepared under the cognizance of the Joint Staff and approved by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

d. Multinational Manual (MM). An unclassified publication which has been permitted to be released to any non-alliance nation by the sponsoring alliance or group of nations.

e. Navy Warfare Library (NWL). The compilation of doctrinal, tactical, and reference publications designed to meet the needs of the Navy warfighter. The library consists of Navy warfare publications, Navy tactics, techniques, and procedures, Navy tactical reference publications, fleet exercise publications, tactical memorandum and APs, multi-service publications, and MMs.

5. Discussion

a. Distribution. Distribution of communications and NWL publications shall follow reference (c). Automatic distribution of these products depends upon the nature of the publications.

(2) NWL (Non-Allied). NWL publications are distributed by COMNAVRADCOM as described in reference (a). The primary distribution method is through electronic posting to the Navy Doctrine Library System (NDLS). Selected publications (e.g., pocket guides) are also distributed on a limited basis via paper media. Paper copies of NWL publications can be obtained via the Naval Logistics Library. COMNAVRADCOM also issues the Navy Warfare Electronic Library (NWEL) on compact disc-ready only memory (CD-ROM) to fill initial commissioning and command establishment requirements. (See paragraph 5b(1)) NDLS Web sites can be accessed at: https://ndls.nwdc.navy.mil (NIPRNET) and http://ndls.nwdc.navy.smil.mil (SIPRNET)

(3) Allied Publications. Allied publications (except ACPs) are distributed by COMNAVWARDEVCOM as described in reference (a). The primary distribution method is by the Allied Publication Electronic Library (APEL) CD-ROM series until this method can be replaced by online SIPRNET and NIPRNET libraries. As with the remainder of the NWL, selected publications are distributed via paper media and paper copies can be obtained via the Naval Logistics Library.

(4) Joint Doctrine Publications. Joint doctrine publications are distributed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff via online NIPRNET and SIPRNET libraries. COMNAVWARDEVCOM posts copies of joint doctrine publications to its online NIPRNET and SIPRNET libraries to facilitate Navy distribution and collection of Navy feedback on their content.

(5) Automatic Paper and CD-ROM Distribution. NWL publications and CD-ROM libraries may also be produced or ordered by type commanders (TYCOMs), fleet commanders, or by immediate superiors in command (ISICs). In such cases, the ordering command finances distribution and maintains the distribution list.

b. Procurement

(1) Commissioning Allowance and Initial Establishment of Command Publications Allotment. Submit commissioning allowance or initial establishment and reactivation requests for NWL publications to COMNAVWARDEVCOM (Attention: Publishing Division) via the chain of command and ISIC, citing the Standard Navy Distribution List (SNDL) number and unit identification code. For communications publications, contact FLTCYBERCOM, chief information officer. Recommendations for fixed-quantity allowance changes applicable to all like and type commands and units within an SNDL code group will be submitted by the TYCOM or ISIC to COMNAVWARDEVCOM (Attention: Publishing Division). Requests for controlled-issue publications must include justification. Commissioning allowance requests for Military Sealift Command are submitted via the Commander, Military Sealift Command. Commissioning allowance requests must be received by COMNAVWARDEVCOM (Attention: Publishing Division) at least 90 days prior to the required delivery date. The request must contain the date the material is required, certification of classified storage capability, certification of NATO storage capability and NATO sub-registry or control point (if applicable), a point of contact with name and telephone number, and any special instructions. Within 8 working days after receipt of the commissioning allowance request, COMNAVWARDEVCOM will direct Naval Supply Systems Command (NAVSUPSYSCOM) to issue the paper copy allowance through Naval Logistics Library. As directed by COMNAVWARDEVCOM, NAVSUPSYSCOM shall issue the paper copy allowance within 30 working days. Any publication not in stock at the time of initial request will be provided by NAVSUPSYSCOM at the earliest opportunity and without the need for a subsequent request or reorder action. NWEL and APEL requests are to be submitted to COMNAVWARDEVCOM (Attention: Publishing Division). Commands requiring hardcopies of NWEL and APEL publications can order using Military Standard Requisitioning and Issue Procedures (MILSTRIP) or through the NAVSUPSYSCOM print-on-demand system. Requests for more than two copies are to be expedited through COMNAVWARDEVCOM (Attention: Publishing Division) for approval. Commands may requisition bulk printing of publications from the NWEL and APEL through their local Document Automation and Production Service.

(2) Automatic Distribution Changes. Requests for changes in distribution for APEL and other NWL documents must be submitted to COMNAVWARDEVCOM (Attention: Publishing Division) via the chain of command. The TYCOM or ISIC shall determine the validity of proposed allowance changes and applicability to all subordinate commands and units. If the request is approved, the ISIC will indicate in the forwarding endorsement the applicability of the change to other subordinate activities. Requests for changes in distribution of controlled-issue publications must include justification.

(3) One-Time Requisitions

(a) Bulk Quantities of Publications. Navy Logistics Library requests for more than two copies of NWL publications shall be submitted to COMNAVWARDEVCOM (Attention: Publishing Division) for approval and processing.
(b) Individual or Additional Paper Copies. Order directly from NAVSUPSYSCOM using Naval Logistics Library MILSTRIP requisition procedures, as set forth in NAVSUPSYSCOM Publication 2003 (NAVSUP P2003). NAVSUP P2003 identifies NWL, communication, and joint doctrine publication short titles and stock numbers.

Note: Replacement or missing pages are not issued as separate items.

c. NATO Effective Date (NED). When a revised edition of a publication is not shown as effective for NATO, holders anticipating future participation in NATO or multinational operations will retain copies of both preceding and revised editions until the revised edition becomes effective. See reference (a).

e. Questions and Changes. Direct questions about status and distribution of NWL publications to:
f. U.S. Navy and U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Commands. Communications publications and NWL products are generally issued to Navy operational support centers (NOSC) and Marine Corps reserve centers vice directly to reserve units.
