

A Regional Discussion on Sexual Assault & Sexual Harassment at America's Colleges, Universities, and Service Academies Agenda - February 6, 2020
Student Union Building (SUB), University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM
07:15 - 08:00	Check-In
	Introductions
08:00 - 08:15	Ms. Melissa Cohen, Director, Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office Ms. Francie Cordova, JD, Director of the Equal Opportunity Office, Interim Chief Compliance Officer, University of New Mexico
	Opening Remarks
08:15 - 08:35	President Garnett S. Stokes, The University of New Mexico The Honorable Mr. Thomas B. Modly, Acting Secretary of the Navy
	Keynote Address
	Promise and Peril: Sexual Harassment Today
08:35 - 09:35	Dr. Elizabeth L. Hillman, President, Mills College Research has uncovered potential solutions to the damage created by sexual harassment, and courageous leaders have begun to take action in response to these findings. However, risk, blame, and error continue to undermine the likelihood of preventing, deterring, and responding more effectively to sexual harassment. Dr. Hillman leads a discussion on how should institutions weigh next steps at this fraught moment.
09:35-09:45	Break
	General Session I
	Leadership Forum
09:45-10:45	Dr. Barbara L. Rodriguez, Senior Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, University of New Mexico Dr. Amy Levi, Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, Health Sciences Center, University of New Mexico Mr. John R. Kroger, JD, Chief Learning Officer, Department of the Navy Lieutenant General Jay B. Siveria, Superintendent, United States Air Force Academy University and military leaders share their perspectives on the role of leadership in preventing sexual assault and sexual harassment within their educational and military communities. While colleges and military service academies seem to have different environments, the reality is that, in both types of institutions, leaders must work to prevent destructive behaviors from occurring as they develop future leaders. In this session, speakers will discuss recommendations on translating strategic guidance into action. In addition, they will offer lessons learned and best practices in how to promote change in order to eliminate sexual violence and prepare future leaders.
	General Session II
	Promoting a Culture of Change Through Data
10:50-11:50	Dr. Angela Catena, Title IX Coordinator, University of New Mexico Dr. Nathan W. Galbreath, Acting Director, Department of Defense Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office Mr. Joseph Storch, JD, Associate Counsel, The State University of New York Mr. Travis York, Assistant Vice President of Academic & Student Affairs, Association of Public & Land-grant Universities Dr. Emily F. Rothman, Professor of Community Health Services, School of Public Health, Boston University As military and civilian educational institutions continue the fight against sexual violence, data becomes increasingly vital to changing the culture. Speakers will share their thoughts on the importance of understanding prevalence rates and reporting data, what they have learned from these types of data, discuss challenges in comparing data across institutions, and possible approaches to aligning data.
	Networking Lunch
11:50-12:50	This session provides attendees with an extended opportunity for further individual discussions on sexual assault and sexual harassment prevention at colleges, universities and service academies. The lunch buffet will be available from 11:45 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.
	Breakout Session I
1:00 - 2:00	Conversation on Culture and Climate Determining Next Steps on Program Evaluation Bystander Intervention Evaluation and Experiential Program
2:00 - 2:10	Break
	Breakout Session II
2:10 - 3:10	Sexual Violence and Indigenous Communities The Impact of Institutional Responses to Sexual Violence Deep Dive into Reporting and Prevalence Data
3:10 - 3:20	Break
	Breakout Session III
3:20 - 4:20	Leading Factors: The Impact of Climate on Sexual Assault Assessing Comprehensive Prevention Strategies Federal Grant Funding Agencies and Time's Up Healthcare
	Closing
4:25 - 5:00	President Garnett S. Stokes, University of New Mexico Ms. Melissa Cohen, Director, Department of the Navy Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Office